HOLYOKE, F.

RIDERS DICTIONARIE,

CORRECTED AND AUGMENTED WITH THE ADDITION OF many hundred Words both out of the Law, and out of the Latine, French, and other Languages, such as were and are with us in common use, but never printed till now, to the perfecting of the worke.

THE BARBAROUS WORDS WHICH WERE many hundreds are expunged, to the helpe of young Scholars, which before they used in stead of good Words.

In the end of the Dictionarie you shall finde certaine generall heads of Birds, Colours, Dogs, Fishes, Hawkes, Hearbes, Numbers, Stones, Trees, Weights.

Lastly, the names of the chiefe places and Townes in England, Scotland, and Ireland, &c. which were never in RIDERS before.

Also hereunto is annexed certaine tables of Weights and Measures, the valuation of auncient and moderne Coines; as also a table of the Hebrew, Greeke, and Latine Measures, reduced to our English Standard and Assise: and the Weights used in Physicke, none of which were ever in RIDERS worke.

Whereunto is joyned a Dictionarie Etymologicall, deriving each word from his proper fountaine, the first that ever was extant in this kind, with many worthy Castigations Additions, in this last Edition, as will appeare in the Title and Epistle before it.

Now newly corrected and much augmented by FRANCIS HOLY-OKE.

Clariſsimo viro, ac bonarum literarum ſummo patrono; D. Franciſco Walſinghamo, Equiti aurato, Ducatus Lancaſtrenſis Cancellario, & Regiæ Majeſtati à ſacris Conſiliis, & Secretario principali I. R. Fœlicitatem præcatur perpetuam.

SERIUS omnino quam volebam, aliquando tamen novus hic partus in lucem prodiit, quod flagitabam equidem quotidiè: quippe in parturiendo, Ætnam humeris meis (donec prolem in amplexu habuerim) mihi ſuſtinere videbar. Sed in orbis theatrum prodiit tandem & tuis auſpitiis (Illuſtriſſime Walſinghame) prodiit, quò me ſumma de tua ſingulari humanitate concepta ſpes, & magna quædam approbandæ tibi, ſi minus eruditionis, at certè voluntatis meæ, cupiditas impulit. Quem enim uſpiam hominum mortalium hac doctorum tempeſtate melius compellarent literæ, quàm illum ipſum, qui literas & literatos omnes incredibili amore proſequitur, eoſque apud ſui ſimiles, apud diſſimiles, apud univerſos, plurimi facit, & veneratur. Et, (ut interim taceam de cæteris virtutibus) utráque te Academia laudant, ſuſpiciunt, & admirantur. Quippe à te lumen, à te ſubſidium habent, tuique ipſius magnificentia adauctum ſibi honorem ſentiunt, ſed plura non addam. Amplitudo tua laudes iſtas, tametſi juſtas & meritas, rarò & ægrè feret. Potuit quidem vir ſummus, hoc quidquid eſt operæ, & induſtriæ noſtræ, nobiliſſimus heros COMES SUSSEXIÆ (cui privatim ſum ex officio devotus) jure quaſi ſuo vendicare: Potuit etiam vir ornatiſſimus, GVLIELMVS WAADVS, (qui mihi & auctor in conſiliis capiendis, & adjutor in rebus agendis extitit) non repetere modo, ſed aſſumere etiam, & quodam modo poſtulare: uterque tamen mihi dii conſulares tibique intimi, non ſolum ſuaſerunt, ſed etiam perſuaſerunt, ut te deum mortalem & tutelarem mihi eligerem, tuamq; amplitudinem enixè & vehementer rogarem, ut primum hunc meum infantulum, adhuc rudem & impolitum, honorificè adoptares. TO THE READER.

COurteous Reader, I may seeme to some over bold in setting forth a new treasure of words to the world, when the works of so honourable and learned men, who have laboured in this kinde, are so learnedly penned, and highly esteemed In truth I must, and doe most willingly confesse, that neither in age, wit, learning or experience, I am to be compared with the least of them: nay unfit to carry the bookes, where some of the honorable Learned should reade the Lecture; whose learned labours have yeelded these many yeares to England great profit. Yet notwithstanding, considering the great utility of a Dictionarie, whose matter is manifold, and use generall, and also that no one dictionary, as yet extant, hath the English before the Latine, with a full Index of all such Latine words as are in any one common dictionary amongst us and because the poor estate of most students is not able to furnish themselves with all such Dictionaries, their severall prices amounting to so much, and also weighing the great want that poore schollers have, in not having most, or all of the common Dictionaries: I have thought it good therefore, for thy benefit, Courteous Reader, to epitomize and contract the learned workes of all the learnedst and best Dictionaries in England with us now extant, into a lesser roome, reducing all those learned Volumes into a portable Enchiridion, and into so great treasures to cast for thy use, some small mites of my owne, which amount to foure thousand words more than any one Dictionary now extant affords. which I have done not without great paines and charges: which heavy burthen of charge, if it had not beene supported by the Right Honourable, my very good Lord, the Earle of Sussex, and the Right Worshipfull Master William Waade, Esquire, one of the Clerkes of her Maiesties most Honourable privy Counsell, with other of my good loving parishioners of Barmonsey neere London, and good friends in and neere Banbury, it might have beene said of me, as it was of the foolish builder, This man began to build, but was not able to make an end. But at last, though long, by Gods providence, it is come to this issue, that I must present it (howsoever it be finished) to thy courteous view and friendly censure: requesting thee to reprove with iudgement charitably, what I have overpast in hast: in recompence whereof, I will be no lesse willing to reforme, than thy courtesie to admonish. Thus assuring my selfe, that thou (Learned Reader) wilt my faults escaped, either with thy pen correct, or in courtesie conceale, remembring that the shadowes of young painters may have some blemishes, and first editions of young writers (yea, and best workes) some faults: I commit thee (Gentle Reader) to his tuition, that must present thee and mee faultlesse, in his owne righteousnesse, before the great Iudge at the comming of our Lord Iesus Christ.

ADeste tyrunculi, ad musas currite: nam molesta & longa via studendi (quæ vobis in limine metum injecit) tollitur. Brevissimæ vitæ stadium, brevissimum artis studium postulat. Dignus ergo laude is est, qui Prisciani tædium, qui Pythagoræ silentium sustulit. En Bibliothecam, & quasi gazam vobis offert Riderus Anglus. In qua, non solum literas, syllabas, dictiones Anglolatinas, sed etiam classes, regulas, Sintaxeis breviter & ingeniosè docuit. Nam præter Alphabetum, & sylvam verborum, florem illum Anglicanæ Gramatices scriptorem, Lilium, hic cortex, hic codex redolet. Non est quod mireris (erudite Lector) Auctorem multas in hac sylva spinas (i.) permulta in hoc opusculo verborum monstra (quæ barbaras dictiones nominat) intrivisse: quippè apud Oratores istiusmodi (lapide Philosophico, hoc est, ingenio & arte perpolita) aureum speciem, sonum & sensum habent: ut Lentulitas & Apeitas apud Ciceronem. Adesdum ergo Papiri ingeniose puer, adeste tyrones, emite multos in hoc uno libello libros: discite in eo rerum ac verborum pondera, Authoris industriam approbate. Ab ædibus meis Oxonii.
